

Nydia 1pm June 9, 2009

You still long for a message for your website –

Try again and we shall try to serve you thus and you endeavors to serve us and all of energy.

Speak and the shadows listen

Cry out and the crow sings your song

You are not lost or broken

You are not found or needing redemption

We are not gone or away

Find us and we will be found

That is enough to speak

(I always thank the guides and send them home – I include this in the transcript)

This message has been written and will be shared.